A Company takes over EEAP

Acquisition teams merged

Eastern European distribution group A Company has acquired all of the shares in its Eastern European Acquisition Pool subsidiary that it did not already own, giving it 100% ownership of the group.

The Berlin-based A Company, which already owned 51% of EEAP, took the 24.5% stakes owned by Munich-based Romanian distrib Prorum Media-Trade as well as Slovenia's Cinemania Group, which operates throughout the former Yugoslavia.

A Co. has merged the license acquisition operations of both companies in order to streamline its corporate structure.

Prorum and Cinemania will remain exclusive partners in EEAP's Eastern European distribution network for Romania and the former Yugoslavian states.
