

PRESS RELEASE

EEAP's acquisitions at Cannes Film Festival

EEAP proudly announces the acquisition of the following films at the Cannes Film Market:

After the huge success in releasing SAW II early this year in Poland, Baltics, Former YU and CIS, EEAP follows up with part three of Lionsgate's franchise. Also from Lionsgate, EEAP acquired the sci-fi thriller DAYBREAKER. EEAP continues its relationship to 2929 Entertainment and acquired APPALOOSA starring Ed Harris, Viggo Mortensen and Diane Lane.

Keeping its focus on high quality arthouse pictures EEAP is proud to have acquired MY BLUEBERRY NIGHTS (Wong Kar Wai) and PROMISE ME THIS (Emir Kusturiza) from Studio Canal. "We are thrilled to be able to keep our eclectic profile with these prominent directors" says Alexander van Dülmen, Managing Director of EEAP.

EEAP is happy that it can offer to its TV partners the third part of the successful TV event series THE LIBRARIAN, produced by Dean Devlin (INDEPENDENCE DAY).

To make EEAP's Til Schweiger movie collection complete, the action thriller BODY ARMOUR by the producer of KISS KISS, BANG BANG was bought from Darlight.

Further acquisitions will be confirmed soon.
